

KEEPING ILLINOIS RESIDENTS SAFE

JULIE performs the vital role of connecting homeowners like you with utility companies so they can mark where their underground utility lines are buried on your property. (They do not locate privately installed or owned lines.)

State law requires you—the person actually doing the digging—contact JULIE at least 3 days before you plan to put a shovel in the ground.

- NEVER dig prior to the date and time indicated on the ticket you receive from JULIE.
- ALWAYS make sure all utility companies listed on that ticket have responded.

It's a FREE service.

JULIE personnel are not locators and will never visit your property.

Know What's Below

Striking an underground utility line while digging can knock out critical services like gas, electricity, water, communications, and more. It can also cause serious property damage, harm your family or neighbors, even cost you your life.

So, when planting, building, adding, or fixing anything outdoors, make sure to contact JULIE before you dig—even if you're digging in the same location as a previous project.
