

:60 After The Storm Script

The spring and summer storm season can bring with it immeasurable destruction to homes, yards and businesses. Unfortunately, all too often, additional damage is done when the repair process begins with the replacement of fences, mailbox posts, trees, and shrubs.

Remember before starting any repair project after a storm to notify JULIE before you dig. Even if you're installing an item in its original location, you're putting yourself at risk. Simply digging an inch deeper or to the left or right could damage an underground utility line. It's happened before and it could happen to you.

Protect yourself, your family and your community...and play it safe after a storm. Contact JULIE Before You Dig dot com or call 811 at least three days before you start your clean-up and repair process. It's a free service.
